

Ex Boyfriend

You're pretty sure it's over, but you keep coming back for more.

Eastern Substitution

I guess this is what you do when you run out of lemon juice. It looks like a swirling brown mess though.

Traditional Cocktail

Bucking Jesus

Oh, how we miss you, El Bronco. This is our completely inauthentic tribute.

Old Fashioned

Whiskey with some sweetness and aroma added. The original cocktail.

Traditional Cocktail

3/5

Traditional Cocktail

Tuxedo Cocktail

Only traditional spirits make this surprising and surprisingly old cocktail.

Manhattan

Whiskey with some sweetness and spice. One of the first cocktails. A little more complex than an old fashioned.

2/5

Traditional Cocktail

Traditional Cocktail

Traditional Martini

The first martini were a mixture of gin and vermouth (sweet or dry). A much better combination than today's shot of gin or vodka with an olive.

Negroni

Bitter, floral, complex. No cocktail can claim to be more Italian.

Tom Collins

Named for a hilarious joke. A sour gin soda.

Mercy, Mercy

Strong with a little sweetness from the bitter aperol.

Purple Passion Iced Tea

An alternative to the long island iced tea. Just as strong.

Mr. 404

Like a flower arrangement in a grapefruit.

5/5

Post War Era Cocktail

Margarita

The reigning champion of sours. Tequila, orange liqueur, and lime juice. Perfect.

Prohibition Era Cocktail

Daiquiri

Perhaps the simplest example of a sour. If you like a pure experience, this is the drink for you.

3/5

Prohibition Era Cocktail

Sidecar

A sour with some character. Brandy or Cognac, orange liqueur, and lemon juice. Definitely a lot going on, but the brandy still shines through.

5/5

Prohibition Era Cocktail

Penicillin

Robust oak and ginger flavor with a smoky aroma and just enough sweetness to take the edge off. Seriously complex.

Fitzgerald

Lemon and gin in a perfectly sweet combination. Quite possibly the best sour there is.

Bitter Elder

Tastes remarkably like grapefruit juice, particularly considering there isn't any in it.

Long Island Iced Tea

A dangerously strong drink that tastes surprisingly like sweet iced tea.

Chapala

A citrusy and refreshing tequila based drink.

High Plains Drifter #1

A delicious, flavorful concoction somewhat similar to a margarita but with much more character.

Nicky Finn

Some complexity mixed with orange and sour.

Lumination

Ginger-lemon with a little complexity to balance it out.

Cable Car

Sweet vanilla, orange, and cinnamon. Delicious.

Redhead Martini

Strawberry citrus with some bubbly champagne.

Rosemary Clementine Sparkle

Citrus with some complexity from honey and rosemary.

Le Paradini

Berry, fruit, sparkle, awesome!

The Big Crush

Raspberry, orange and champagne deliciousness.

Apple-Cinnamon Sparkler

Exactly as the name implies. However, it tastes more extravagant than it sounds.

Bellini

Peach and prosecco. It's like a peach mimosa.

The Champagne Cocktail

Despite its name, it isn't just champagne. Note: substitute an orange twist for the lemon twist and you have a "London Special."

Cranberry Spiced Champagne

Just like grandma used to make for Thanksgiving.

Death in the Afternoon

You like anise, so this cocktail is perfect for you.

Kir Royale

Simple but perfect. Who would have thought currants were so good?

Mimosa

A cocktail which basically screams out brunch.

Strawberry-Vanilla Sparkler

The name really says it all.

Luxury Cocktail

Brandy spiked champagne is a true luxury. Satisfaction guaranteed (or return the drink for a full refund).
